NEW YORK, March 30 (UPI) -- A New York judge issued a warrant for the arrest of rapper The Game after he failed to appear to face charges of impersonating a police officer.

The warrant won't be acted upon unless The Game, real name Jayceon Taylor, doesn't make his next court date in June, The New York Post said Friday.

The Game was to answer charges Thursday that he impersonated a police officer so he could intimidate a livery cab driver into running red lights, officials said.
